ALA. UNIVERSITY DEGREES AVAILABLE IN 3 YEARS

University, Ala.—Moving toward even greater cooperation in the national defense program, the University of Alabama will offer beginning students the opportunity to obtain the degrees of regular four-year courses in three calendar years in all of its regular four-year schools and colleges, starting in September, Capstone officials announce.

While the University has for many years offered students the opportunity to earn such degrees in three years in most of its schools and colleges through advanced placement, the new 11-week summer session, starting in September, will be able to secure degrees also in the more technical branches of chemistry and engineering, officials explained.

The announcement emphasized that no educational standards will be sacrificed under the new plan, in which particular emphasis will be laid upon an arrangement of technical and engineering courses that will enable students in these vital courses to complete their work in one year.

University officials pointed out that the new schedule would be of particular value to young persons planning to enter college for the first time this year, but who have hesitated to do so, fearing they would be unable to complete degree requirements before being called into service.

Under the present selective service laws, many students, by taking advantage of this opportunity, will be able to secure their degree before reaching the minimum age for selective service.

Students entering the University as freshmen in September, 1941, will have the opportunity to earn a degree in the following courses in three calendar years: engineering, chemistry, arts and sciences (including pre-medical training), commerce and business administration, education and home economics.

Sodium fluoride is probably the most material known for cockroach control. Sprinkle on floors where roaches run. The pests get this poison on their "feet," lick it off with their mouthparts, and are thus poisoned. Repeat sprinklings every 7 to 10 days until roaches disappear, advises P.
S. Arant, associate entomologist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Bright New Shingle Means End Of Rainbow To Enterprise Couple

(By Nell Fanning Hutchinson)

A bright new "shingle" is stuck up over the doorway that leads into the offices of the old Farmers and Merchants Bank building in Enterprise. Its silver lettering on a black ground says "Grissold and Grissold, Lawyers—rainbow."

Should you climb the steep narrow steps to the rooms where women folded handbags during the first World War, you would find Grissold and Grissold.

If you had been expecting two elderly, sedate practitioners with spectacles on their noses, you would be disappointed, for the specialties of the firm are O'Neal and Julia, young man and wife, just lately graduated from the law school of the University of Alabama.

That sign at the foot of the stairs and the new diploma hanging on their office wall are the sign of gold at the end of the rainbow, which they chased hand in hand for six years and, contrary to rainbow tradition, finally discovered it.

Back in 1934 O'Neal Grissold came to Enterprise a grocery clerk from a firm in New Hope community in the northern section of Coffee County had entered the law school of the University of Alabama. He had been studying together with the specialties of the firm are O'Neal and Julia, young man and wife, just lately graduated from the law school of the University of Alabama.
